List of Department of Defense Sites
June 2004

I. Introduction & Disclaimer

The purpose of this list is to identify current and formerly utilized Department of Defense (DOD) Sites in Maine for which the Department has information on file. In addition to sites identified by DOD as current or former defense sites, the DOD list includes some sites that are not eligible for DOD funded programs. Inclusion on the DOD list does not mean a particular site is an uncontrolled hazardous substance site or that any environmental contamination has been detected. This list is not intended to substitute for a file search, define “clean” or “contaminated” properties, or include all state programs. Although an effort was made to provide correct, up to date information for all sites, the DEP does not guarantee the accuracy of this List. It is to be considered guidance only. Users are advised to review case files when available where accuracy is critical.

This List refers to Uncontrolled Sites/Federal Facilities interest only; it is not intended to be inclusive of all state programs. Other programs, such as Solid Waste, Underground Storage Tanks or RCRA may have an on going interest in the site.

II. Categories

The list categorizes sites by “Type”. There are four types:

A. Formerly Utilized Defense Sites (FUDS)

The Army Corps of Engineers (ACE) has been authorized by DOD to “reduce, in a timely and cost effective manner, the risk to human health and the environment resulting from past DOD activities at formerly used properties”. By definition, military property closed and transferred prior to 1984 are FUDS.

ACE has assigned each FUD site a unique number. The numbers are provided in the “ACE ID #” column for each FUD site on the DOD list.

ACE issued an Inventory Project Report (INPR) for every potential FUD site. The INPR records, at a minimum, the findings of real estate record searches and categorized the FUD sites. Based on the real estate records search, potential FUDS may be eliminated from further consideration if they fit certain categories. Categorical exclusion FUDS were used for specific purposes, such as cemeteries and Armed Forces recruiting. Negative INPR indicates a site where the record search failed to document DOD ownership. MEDEP’s DOD list includes sites in both categories and the relevant ACE document can be found in the MEDEP files.

Eligible FUDS were further categorized into No Further Action (NOFA) and sites requiring work. The fact that ACE has given a FUDS NOFA status should not be interpreted as MEDEP concurrence that further investigation is not needed.

Several types of project may be undertaken by ACE at FUD sites:

CON/HTW stands for “Containerized Hazardous or Toxic Waste”. This category includes underground storage tanks, above ground storage tanks, drums or other containers.

HTW stands for “Hazardous or Toxic Waste”. Projects in this category include contaminated groundwater wells regardless of the presence of a definitive source.

OEW stands for “Ordnance and Explosive Waste” and involves clearing threats to public safety posed by potentially explosive material – including cannon balls, old lead shot, etc. In the past ACE prioritized these projects by risk; the prioritization has been challenged and DOD has been directed by Congress to develop a list of munitions sites, including FUDS, and regulations have been drafted for reprioritizing these sites. The proposed regulations address potential hazards posed by munitions constituents and media contaminated by explosive wastes.

BD/DR stands for “building demolition and debris removal” and these projects include activities such as barricading a former missile silo, providing a railing to prevent falls at old forts and removing a former tower for indicating a measured nautical mile.

FUDS with CON/HTW and HTW projects also appear on the State Uncontrolled Sites List. Some OEW sites also appear on the State Uncontrolled Sites List.

Comprehensive lists of FUDS are available at:

<http://hq.environmental.usace.army.mil/programs/fuds/fme/fme.html>

Maine DEP has included only FUDS for which it has file information on the DOD list.

Please note that some FUDS appear on the DOD list in other categories – active installations, National Guard, Reserves, or Closed, Transferred and Transferring

B. Closed, Transferred and Transferring

Responsibility for restoration of military property closed after 1984 is delegated to the service branch that closes the installation. Furthermore, federal law requires disclosure, notifications and covenants regarding hazardous substances stored or released on transferred property. This category includes property owned or leased as Army or Naval Reserve or recruiting centers that have been transferred. Several former Navy facilities and a former fuel farm also appear in this category.

The closure process includes an assessment of environmental issues and consultation with MEDEP. These documents can be found in DEP files.

C. Guard and Reserves

Facilities listed in these categories have not been closed or transferred. DEP has some file information for each site in this category. The category does not include all property interests held by the Guard and Reserves in the State of Maine.

D. Active Facilities

Facilities that have not been transferred from DOD ownership are considered active, regardless of the level of military activity. DEP has some file information on all of the properties in this category. Property may be transferred between federal agencies. Remote property can be under the administrative control of a military base. The Naval Air Station in Brunswick administers Topsham Annex, a survival school in Redington Township, property known as East Brunswick, and military family housing.

E. BRAC

The former Loring Air Force Base in Limestone appears on the National Priorities List and the Uncontrolled Site List and was closed under the Base Realignment and Closure Program (BRAC). The Air Force retains the responsibility to manage responses at the former base. The Air Force transferred military family housing and several non-contiguous parcels to other entities under BRAC authority.

III. Overlap with Uncontrolled Sites List

MEDEP maintains the DOD List for informational purposes only. If the Department has evidence of a documented or potential release of hazardous substances at a facility, the facility will appear on the Uncontrolled Sites List along with the site status.
